The Pulpit

A SERMON BY THE REV. T. DEWITT TALMAGE.

Theme: A Nation's Warning.

BROOKLYN, N. Y.—Preaching at the Brick Presbyterian Church, Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage, D.D., LL.D., pastor, took for his subject "A Nation's Warning," and his text was Isaiah, xxvi., 9: "When Thy judgments are in the earth the inhabitants of the world will learn righteousness." He said:

The world is full of sermons. It is not necessary that we should go to the pulpit to get them. Every day's history is a sermon. Every day's newspaper is a sermon. Every day's observation is a sermon. Every day's experience is a sermon. Every day's bereavement is a sermon. Every day's sickness is a sermon. Every day's health is a sermon. Every day's prosperity is a sermon. Every day's adversity is a sermon. Every day's sunshine is a sermon. Every day's storm is a sermon. Every day's life is a sermon. Every day's death is a sermon. Every day's resurrection is a sermon. Every day's eternity is a sermon. Every day's heaven is a sermon. Every day's hell is a sermon. Every day's God is a sermon. Every day's Christ is a sermon. Every day's Bible is a sermon. Every day's sermon. Every day's sermon. Every day's
